

ISN'T IT STRANGE?

Did it ever occur to you that the reason medical doctors have so little success in curing Tuberculosis is because they really do not practice medicine?

To say that a specific exists for the cure of Consumption is perhaps too strong a statement, but in Eckman's Alternative we have a medicine that has been the means of saving many a life to years of usefulness and in many cases curing a large number of Consumptives.

Telling every sufferer to gorge himself with eggs and milk is apparently the limit of modern treatment. Certainly a person afflicted with a wasting disease should be well fed with wholesome, nourishing food; but frequently raw eggs in quantities cause a digestive breakdown and then no food nourishes. As for milk, a very good food for many; but a producer of biliousness for some.

Any diet that keeps a Consumptive well nourished is the right one, but what is going to cure the patient? Eckman's Alternative has cured and is curing many a case of Consumption. Let those speak who know. Here is a specimen:

99 Saranah St., Rochester, N. Y.
Gentlemen: On Jan. 3, 1907, I was operated upon for Tuberculosis. Peritonitis at St. Mary's hospital, Rochester, N. Y. After the operation my physicians gave me up. I was then urged by a clergyman to take Eckman's Alternative, which I did. My weight at the time was 75 pounds. I began to improve and steadily gained in health and strength. I now weigh 155 pounds and am absolutely cured.

Uniform Code Of Demurrage Rules

Adopted by Railway Commissioners—Applicable Alike to State and Interstate Transportation.

Washington, Nov. 18.—Despite opposition to the "forty-eight hour free time rule," and the failure to embody a reciprocal demurrage rule, the National Association of Railway Commissioners in convention yesterday adopted a uniform code of demurrage rules to be applicable alike to state and interstate transportation. This code was incorporated in a report of a committee headed by Commissioner Lane of the interstate commerce commission.

The object of the association in improving the code was to facilitate its actual application to all transportation on the ground that demurrage rules, loosely drawn and laxly enforced, constitute one of the last strongholds of those who seek to render the law against discrimination ineffectual.

The fight against the adoption of the code was led by O. P. Goshlin of Ohio, who with William F. Rhoads of Virginia and John A. Webb of Mississippi, minority members of the special committee, had prepared a number of amendments.

Instead of allowing a free time of forty-eight hours free time (or loading or unloading cars with all commodities), as reported by the majority of the special committee, the three minority members reported in favor of seventy-two hours on cars containing more than 66,000 pounds. Their recommendation was defeated by a vote of 2 to 1.

In the debate which consumed all the afternoon, except for a brief period spent in calling on President Taft, V. P. Hall, chairman of the Massachusetts commission, said that the custom throughout the six New England states was to allow ninety-six hours free time, and he asked that the association go slowly in recommending forty-eight hours only. To this Commissioner Lane said that while Mr. Hall was a member of the committee which drafted the report, he never attended a meeting.

One of the most determined advocates of a limitation to forty-eight hours was C. F. Staples of Minnesota. "I have often wondered why our farmers could not get cars in which to ship their grain," said he. "I now find out that it was because your fellows in New England and in Florida were keeping them ninety-six hours for unloading."

The majority of the committee reported that it considered the question of "reciprocal demurrage" of fines against railroads for failure to deliver cars after they were ordered did not come within its province. The minority members took the opposite view, but the association upheld the majority. The report of the committee, including the code, was adopted by a vote of 25 to 15.

Protest Against Uniform Demurrage Code.

Washington, Nov. 18.—The feeling of resentment by some state railroad commissioners against what they term the wish of the interstate commerce commission to "hog" all the superlatives on over railroads, reached a climax at the convention of the National Association of Railway Commissioners today, when the convention was asked to approve the code of the last congress to empower the interstate commission to investigate all accidents on railroads engaged in interstate commerce.

Commissioner Earle of South Carolina led in the denunciation of the bill. The discussion finally resulted in Commissioner Clark of the interstate commerce commission and Commissioner Burr of Florida offering a suggestion that the bill be approved, if amended so as to specify it was in no way to interfere with the right of the states. This course was pursued.

When Secretary Moseley of the interstate commerce commission finished the report of a special committee recommending the approval of the code, Commissioner Earle said, shaking his finger at Mr. Moseley: "We have heard you say for uniformity, uniformity, uniform demurrage, uniform this and uniform that. We are getting tired of it. Are you going to take everything? I'll tell you right now, I, as a railroad commissioner of South Carolina, am not going to accept your uniform demurrage code."

"I don't care if you don't," retorted Mr. Moseley. Mr. Moseley subsequently explained that at present railroads are required to report on wrecks, and it is desired to have these reports more accurate and more in detail, with a view of preventing the railroads from "lying" about them, as it has been contended they sometimes do.

FAMOUS LABOR SUIT FOR BIG DAMAGES.

How Trades Unions Masked Their Plays in Alleged Boycott.

Hartford, Nov. 18.—Testimony in the form of depositions, presented for the purpose of showing how the trades unions masked their plays in the alleged boycott of the firm of D. E. Loewe & Co. of Danbury, was a feature of today's trial of the famous labor suit in which 240 union hatters in Connecticut are being sued for $240,000 damages.

In general, the evidence showed that after the fight against Loewe was begun, firms in various cities throughout the country approached by labor representatives and requested to stop selling the Loewe product. In many instances their appeals were successful. The head of one Philadelphia firm testified that his business dealings with Loewe before the trouble amounted to $33,000 annually, and that it dropped to $4,000 in 1908.

A Chicago hat dealer told of a conference he had with President Moffatt, of the hatters' union, in which he was told that if he did not stop handling Loewe's hats, his union labor would be taken away from his factory. The spirited reply made to this suggestion was composed of three words.

On December 7, 1908, the depositions of a number of hatters in Philadelphia were taken, which the plaintiff said were of little value. In the deposition of M. E. Marsh, a buyer for the Gate City Hat company of Omaha, Neb., Marsh said that delegates of local unions called on him, saying Loewe was non-union and that they were going to boycott all non-union firms. The delegates also sent a man from Denver with a similar message from President Moffatt of the United Hatters. The case will be continued tomorrow.

New Haven Delegates.

The delegates who will go from the New Haven chamber of commerce to the convention of the Atlantic Deep Waterways association, which is to be held in Norfolk, Va., November 17 to 20, have been appointed by President Ullman of the chamber. They are H. F. Parnallee, who is secretary of the state commission interested in the matter, and will represent the two organizations; E. Harris Weaver, Edward F. Mansfield and E. E. Durant.

Net to Call Pastor Yet.

The members of the South Congregational church, Bridgeport, will not issue a call for a minister to supply their pulpit until next year. The Rev. Henry Hallam Tweedy, now professor at Yale, and Rev. William H. Sallmon will occupy the pulpit meanwhile in the morning, while the assistant pastor, Robert Higginbotham, will preach in the evening.

MEMORIALS DEDICATED

To Rev. Dr. George B. Morgan and Mrs. Morgan at New Haven.

Simplicity and impressiveness were the keynote of the service Sunday at Christ Church, New Haven, dedicating the recently erected churchyard cross in memory of Dr. Morgan and the memorial pavement in the center aisle of the church in memory of Dr. and Mrs. Morgan.

The dedication service proper consisted of an invocation by the pastor and two prayers, one dedicating the cross and one the memorial pavement by the pastor. The sermon was delivered by one of Dr. Morgan's personal friends, Rev. E. M. Clendenen, of Westchester, N. Y.

The memorial pavement, which is the gift of the two brothers of the late Dr. Morgan, Dr. William K. Morgan of Hartford and Henry K. Morgan, Jr. of Morristown, N. Y., and his sister, Mrs. Emily Morgan, of Hartford, consists of red brick tile with eight mosaic panels, each containing one of the eight words from what is called the Christian addition made from the 2 St. Peter. "Add to your faith virtue, to virtue knowledge, to knowledge temperance, to temperance patience, to patience godliness, to godliness brotherly kindness, to brotherly kindness charity." The Latin words in the pavement at Christ Church, New Haven, are: Fides, Virtus, Sapientia, Temperantia, Patientia, Benignitas, Benignitas and Humanitas.

The churchyard cross is a most beautiful memorial. It is the gift of Dr. Morgan's four children. One of the last acts of Dr. Morgan was the choosing of the inscription, which is as follows:

To the dear memory of
George Beineley Morgan,
Pastor,
who became rector of Christ Church,
January 18, A. D. 1887, and whose earthly ministry was brought to a close near this spot,
November 14, A. D. 1908.
Pastor Agnorum.

Dr. Morgan's two brothers, Dr. William K. Morgan and Henry K. Morgan, Jr., Emily Morgan, his sister, and his four children were present at the service.

ELIOT'S RELIGION
But a Copy of Reformed Jewish Belief, Says Rabbi.

That the much advertised new religion of Dr. Charles W. Eliot, formerly president of Harvard university, is nothing more or less than an adaptation of the creed of the reformed Jewish church, was the interesting statement made Sunday morning at the Orange street temple, New Haven, by Rev. Dr. Hirschberg of Milwaukee, one of the most distinguished rabbis of the country. Dr. Hirschberg took up the Eliot creed as set forth in a recent publication, and categorically pointed out its similarity to that of the advanced Jewish church.

Dr. Hirschberg branded the veteran Harvard man's religion as a mere copy of which the author was probably ignorant of his own religion.

He compared Dr. Eliot's views upon the future life with those of the Jews and showed the remarkable similarity. He pointed out how Dr. Eliot's repudiation of the personal devil is the same as that of the Jewish church. In both Dr. Eliot's and the Jewish religion the existence of a place of torment after death is disputed.

Another point of similarity pointed out by Dr. Hirschberg was the disbelief of the Bible and the writings of the ancients. Dr. Eliot's views coincide with those of the members of the Jewish church in that the Bible is little more than a collection of traditions.

In both religions the miracles are repudiated, stated Dr. Hirschberg, and throughout his creed in all but minor details Dr. Eliot practically copied the reformed Jewish religion.

The Evening Day.

That bright star in the west these nights is Venus, the brightest of all the planets. It is the nearest to us of all the heavenly bodies except the moon. It is nearly the size of the earth, being 7,700 miles in diameter. Its density is about the same as the earth's, slightly greater. There are signs of an atmosphere, but there cannot be much. It always presents the same side to the sun, and it shows to us phases like that of the moon. It presents a smooth surface, across which are some irregular and peculiar markings. It never seems to cross the sky like Mars, Jupiter and Saturn, because it is between the earth and the sun. It will rise higher in the sky till Dec. 2, and then sink slowly to the west, and thereafter rise above the sun as a morning star.

Venus is the planet of love, and there is no slight anywhere that so starts the tender emotions as that of Venus.
